Purpose/objective of the change

Extension of UL certificate E488001 for insulated and non-insulated ferrules

Detailed description of the change

As part of the extension of UL certificate E488001, further insulated ferrules are gaining UL certification. These are loose, insulated ferrules and taped products for different cross-sections, in different colors and packaging units. The relevant material numbers can be found in the attached list.

The UL certification has no effect on the appearance and technical properties of the ferrules. The packaging label of ferrules with UL certification carries the UL logo and other required information, such as the tool to be used or the necessary stripping length.

UL certification requires an increase in production batches for traceability reasons. The other technical properties, as described in the data sheets, remain unchanged.
